

Consort support site/wiki

Welcome to our support database.

The purpose of this site is to freely share our knowledge about Electrochemistry, Electrophoresis and other items. Though this site is currently only editable by us, we appreciate all additions, error corrections,... And in the future we hope to have some more contributors.

This site will contain both general information and all knowledge we obtained by solving our customers problems. This information is free to be used.

With the "book creator" you can gather various pages to create your own pdf downloadable book. All pages can be printed also.

On the right side you will find a menu with various options such as subscribing, creating a pdf of the page, adding to your own online book,...

Suggestions are welcome at wiki@consort.be
